Chairman's Remarks

R.C. Jarvis, Chairman

It is my pleasure to introduce this report of the work of the Alberta Foundation for the Arts for 1992/93. The year began with Let's Talk Culture, consultative meetings with the Alberta community held in Calgary, Edmonton, Edson, Fort McMurray, Grande Prairie, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, Red Deer, and Vermilion. I chaired the meetings, and members of the Foundation attended as possible, together with the Executive Director and staff members from Alberta Culture and Multiculturalism. The meetings gave several hundred people the chance to meet us and give us their views on our financial assistance programs - whether change is necessary, and where, and how we can best use our resources for Alberta's benefit. In addition to the meetings, we received written submissions from many individuals, libraries, and other organizations.

1992 was a particularly appropriate time to hold these consultations, as many people - and organizations - in the arts community did not fully understand the changes that had taken place in the Province's grant structure, and many were fearful that "change" was a euphemism for cuts. I believe we were able to reassure them that there was no such hidden agenda, and that the consultative approach was a sincere attempt to learn from our clients what they wanted and needed from our programs.

Let's Talk Culture exemplified the cooperative working relationship between the Foundation and the Department. Staff of Alberta Culture and Multiculturalism were involved throughout, from planning and organizing the process to facilitating discussion in small groups at the individual meetings.

The first changes in the makeup of the Foundation took place as of August 31, 1992. The terms of two former members of the Alberta Foundation for the Performing Arts came to an end: Jack Goth, of Calgary, Vice-Chairman of the Foundation, and Dr. W. A. Preshing, of Edmonton. Linda Cameron, a former member of the Alberta Foundation for the Literary Arts, resigned from the Foundation to take up the direction of the University of the West Indies Press, in Jamaica. They had all made worthy contributions to the Foundation's first year of operation, and they are missed. Two members were reappointed, however, and three new members were appointed, to maintain the Foundation at twelve: Pat Cavill, of Calgary, and Lucille Partington, of Sexsmith, were reappointed, and Olive Green, of Lethbridge, Sheila Edwards and Doug Wright, of Edmonton, were named to the Foundation.

At the request of the then Minister of Culture and Multiculturalism, the Foundation has undertaken to provide interim financing, through loans, to arts organizations unable to access normal commercial credit, but which would be able to recover and continue operations with some limited financial assistance. By the end of the year, we had lent funds (on a revolving, line-of-credit basis, with interest) to Alberta Theatre Projects, Phoenix Theatre, and Theatre Calgary.

Occasionally, and significantly, the Foundation is on the receiving end of donations, as well as making grants. Among others, this year saw an important donation of works of art from the Vancouver gallery, Buschlen Mowatt Fine Arts Ltd. The donation included works by Ken Christopher, the Toronto artist Joseph Drapell, and the American painter, Jules Olitski (the last donated by the gallery's owner, Barrie Mowatt). These donations are evidence that we can take pride in the art acquisition by the Foundation, and in our art collection, which now includes more than 4600 works.

I am particularly pleased by the success of a television initiative, sparked by one of our members, Jim Freeman, of Calgary. "Investing in Art" explores the work of several Alberta artists, and offers guidance to the viewer on what art is about and what collecting art involves. The programs exist in a format that can be half-hour or hour-long TV shows, but also in individual, seven-minute segments that can be incorporated into magazine-style shows. They've been seen on CBC nationally, PBS in Spokane, ITV in Edmonton, ACCESS Alberta, and others. The programs are hosted by a former Albertan, Leslie Nielsen.

Towards the end of 1992, on the initiative of a private foundation in Calgary, the Executive Director and I took part in discussions to explore the feasibility of establishing an "Arts Stabilization Fund" in Alberta, modelled on its very successful operation in the United States. On the basis of interest from arts organizations, donors, and ourselves, that foundation has undertaken the further exploration of the Fund, and I am sure there will be more to report on this subject in future years.

This year saw many changes which affected the vital connection between Government and the Foundation. Alberta Culture and Multiculturalism ceased to exist, becoming part of the new Department of Community Development. We continued to rely on the help of the Department, which provided our Executive Director as well as the time and expertise of other staff for the administration of grants and of the art collection, and many other services. The Arts and Cultural Industries Branches, Library and Community Development Branch, and Ministerial staff have always been helpful and considerate. Speaking for myself and all the members of the Alberta Foundation for the Arts, please accept our thanks for Government's help, and our appreciation of the allocation of resources from the Lottery Fund.

R. C. Jarvis, Chairman

Executive Director's Introduction

In this first full year of operations, the Foundation established a clear visual identity for its communications, with the adoption of the pyramidal, or stylized "A" logo, incorporating a "rainbow" of five streams, symbolizing the five sources of grant funding to the arts that were brought together in the Foundation's responsibilities (grants from the Department, from the Lottery Fund, and from the three foundations: Alberta Art Foundation, Alberta Foundation for the Performing Arts, Alberta Foundation for the Literary Arts).

The Foundation's program of encouraging the commissioning of public art was well used in 1992/93, including major commissions for the Edmonton City Hall development, sponsored by the Edmonton Downtown Development Corporation. Our funds contributed to works by Isla Burns, Glenn Guillet, and Douglas Haynes. Foundation member Carol Watamaniuk, and former Alberta Art Foundation member, Dr. Jetske Sybesma, took part in the selection committees.

We began making changes to the operation of grant programs, to eliminate duplication and rationalize structures to take account of the role of the Foundation. Among others, new grant programs for book publishers were introduced at the end of the fiscal year, after several meetings involving representatives of the Book Publishers Association, Cultural Industries Branch, and the Foundation. A decision was taken to expand the very successful Community Series program to include Alberta filmmakers (directors), discussing and presenting their films.

One of the clearest messages from the Let's Talk Culture meetings was that people outside Calgary and Edmonton felt that grant programs systematically discriminated against rural Alberta. The Board approved two initiatives to begin to combat that perception. First, the Foundation decided to allocate surplus funds to the Amateur Operating Assistance program in 1993/94, so that it might meet its policy commitment to provide grants to community performing arts organizations of up to 20% of eligible expenditure. (In recent years, pro-rating of grants had dropped the percentage of support to approximately half that level.) Second, a "Service to Rural Alberta Program" was approved, and the decision made to pilot the program in 1993/94, encouraging cooperation at the local level to host residencies by several artists, in different disciplines, using a flexible approach to existing grant programs.

Let's Talk Culture also told us that the Artists in Schools Residency was one of the most highly regarded of our programs in the community, and one that schools and artists wanted us to expand. As a result of that consultation, the Foundation has approved widening the scope of the program beyond performing arts, to include literary, visual and film arts in the coming year.

The Foundation's "Commissioning New Music" program, within the Performing Arts Project grants, has been very successful. This year, seven composers were commissioned to write eight different pieces, ranging from children's choral music to music for brass quartet. New programs, to assist in the commissioning of new dance works and new plays, were developed and adopted this year, on the basis of consultation with members of the arts community. The first deadline for "Commissioning New Plays" applications was March 1, 1993.

To honour the memory of Jon Whyte, Banff writer and former President of the Writers' Guild of Alberta, the Foundation joined with the Department and the WGA to sponsor the Jon Whyte Memorial Essay Prize: an annual competition with a cash prize, publication in the Edmonton Journal and the Calgary Herald, and broadcast by ACCESS Radio CKUA. The first winner was Marian Arthur, of Calgary.

Project grants are awarded to organizations, and to artists both established and emerging. Marina Hoover, cellist, and Lesley Robertson, violist, are two Albertan members of the St. Lawrence Quartet; they received grants to help the Quartet compete in the prestigious Banff Centre International String Quartet competition. They won the competition. Dance Connection, a magazine that specializes in coverage of all kinds of dance, was supported with a grant to help increase their subscription base. The magazine's campaign is working, and they appear to be on their way to becoming one of the most important dance publications in North America. Molly Hamilton is a country music family entertainer. Through a grant that helped adapt her music for orchestral arrangements for symphony family series concerts, she has found new audiences, received outstanding reviews, and her shows are now in demand across the continent by some of the major symphony orchestras. Finally I want to note two grants to Sun.Ergos, a small dance and theatre company from Calgary that has become one of Alberta's leading "cultural exports". Both grants enabled Sun.Ergos to appear in embattled parts of Europe: one grant helped them attend the Nitra Theatre Festival, in Slovakia, and then to appear in Croatia, where they entertained refugees from Croatia and Bosnia-Herzegovina. They were the first Canadian company ever to perform in many of the venues and events. Earlier in 1992, they were helped by a grant to take part in the 33rd International Children's Festival, in Sibenik, Croatia. The following excerpts from their report are revealing: "On the 45-mile drive to Sibenik from Split Aerodrome, we were stopped twice by police to inform us that bombing was going on in Sibenik, which was now under General Alarm. When we finally reached the city about midnight, Sibenik which is usually bustling with life during the Festival, glittering with lights and filled with singing and music, was blacked-out, silent and still, debris flung across the streets and dust settling from the recent bombing of a house right near the centre of the city, near the theatre square." "... We performed in bomb shelters, basements, conference theatre halls, and finally, in Vodice, in a city square." "After our last performance, 600 refugee children rushed to the stage, not even waiting to applaud, just cheering and rushing the stage, hugging us, touching our costumes, wearing our masks, singing to us, asking again and again how we had got to Sibenik: "Did you walk here?""

Closer to home, the Foundation and the Alberta Sport Council reached agreement on the cultural component of Alberta Games, lottery funding for which now comes through the Foundation, and the first payments under that agreement were made in 1992/93.

There were staff changes this year: in preparing for full automation of our grant management information system, in cooperation with the Arts Branch, Loreen Bidniak joined the Foundation, working on data entry and general administrative support, and our Art Program Officer, Monica Tap, decided to pursue her own career as an artist.

Art Acquisition

In accordance with its mandate, and recognizing the excellence of Alberta artists, the Foundation actively acquires their creations. During this fiscal year, $302,790 was expended for art purchases (Appendix I). At March 31, 1993, the art collection consisted of 4,667 artworks, with a market value of approximately $4,902,031. Some 1,248 artists are represented in the collection with works in the categories of painting, drawing, sculpture, printmaking, ceramics, fibre art, photography and mixed media.

Artworks were purchased through the Board's Regional Acquisition Committees, coordinated by Bonnie Laycock, as well as the annual, juried, Art Acquisition Through Slide Submission Project. Of the 180 artists whose works were purchased by the Foundation, 61 were new to the collection.

The Foundation wishes to acknowledge the following generous donations:

Masters Gallery, Calgary, for a Janet Mitchell painting
 Buschlen Mowatt Fine Arts Ltd., Vancouver, for two paintings, by Ken Christopher, and Joseph Drapell
 Barrie Mowatt, Vancouver, for a Jules Olitski painting
 Private collector, Burnaby, B.C., for two paintings, by Carol Lumsden and Gary Ripley
 Private collector, Edmonton, for an Alan Reynolds ceramic.

These artworks were welcome additions to the collection; some of them could not have been purchased by the Foundation due to the policy of purchasing only work by artists who are or were Alberta residents. These works greatly enhance the collection.

Promotion & Education

“Investing In Art” Television Series

“Investing In Art”, narrated by Leslie Nielsen, has been shown to millions across Canada and the United States by both commercial and public broadcasting. The programs have been aired by CBC nationally as part of its “Sunday Arts Entertainment” series. Other showings include: ACCESS Television, CITV (Edmonton), PBS (Spokane), Superchannel, Calgary Cable North and Rogers Cable. Short public service announcements drawn from the longer shows have been even more widely broadcast.

The series serves a number of purposes. Primarily, it documents important artists of our province, and the film footage becomes valuable archival material. It promotes Alberta art and useful information to the general public for art appreciation. It is used by educators as a teaching aid to enhance art programs in schools and post secondary institutes. With promise of reaching into the public library system, this series will continue to be a valuable source of knowledge for some time to come.

Due to the enthusiastic response from the television stations and the community, a third series is being planned, for possible release in the Spring of 1994. Artists featured in the two completed series are: Ted Godwin (Calgary), Alex Janvier (Cold Lake), Irene McCaugherty (Fort Macleod), Janet Mitchell (Calgary), Alan Reynolds (Edmonton), Vivian Thierfelder (Stony Plain), Jane Ash Poitras (Edmonton), John Hall (Calgary), Mitsu Ikemura (St. Albert), RFM. McInnis (Edmonton), Katie Ohe (Calgary), and John Snow (Calgary).

This project was produced by Media One, Calgary, and overseen by Foundation member, James Freeman.

Auditor's Report

ALBERTA FOUNDATION FOR THE ARTS

FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

MARCH 31, 1993

To the Members of the Alberta
Foundation for the Arts

I have audited the balance sheet of the Alberta Foundation for the Arts as at March 31, 1993 and the statements of revenue, expenditure and fund balance, equity in artworks and changes in financial position for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of management. My responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on my audit.

I conducted my audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that I plan and perform an audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation.

In my opinion, these financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Foundation as at March 31, 1993 and the results of its operations and the changes in its financial position for the year then ended in accordance with the disclosed basis of accounting as described in Note 3 to the financial statements.
